A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN ROXBURY, MASSACHUSETTS.

rwo Children Murdered in Bussey's Woods-A Brother and Sister the Vic tims-The Bodies of Both Terribly

[From the Boston Journal, June 20.] One of the most terrible and revolting crimes which has ever occurred in New England, was revealed in Roxbury late yesterday afternoon. It is one of those human heart and make the blood boil with a voluntary desire to inflict summary vengeance upon the inhuman and fiendish perpetrators. It will be recollected, as stated in the papers of last week, that on Monday last two children-brother and sister—named John S. Joyce and Isabella Joyce, left their mother's house to walk to greatly excited in consequence of the mysabouts had been unsuccessful, beyond the fact that a man in Roxbury saw two children answering their description on > ever, by the discovery of their lifeless bodies, bearing unmistakable evidences of a terrible outrage and murder. The discovery was purely accidental, notwithstanding active and thorough search was in progress to discover the cause of the singular absence. Two Boston merchants had gone to Roxbury for the purpose of recreation; and while strolling through what is known as Bussey's woods, they were suddenly startled by discovering the murdered body of the little girl Isabella. They at once notified the city authorities, who immediately proceeded to the scene of the tragedy. The only means by which the body could be identified was the clothing. The features which the little one bore in life were succeeded by those of a terrible and painful death. Upon examination it was discovered that she had been outraged in a fearful manner, and from the manner in which her clothing was torn it was apparent that she had violently resist-

The mystery was solved yesterday, howed the assaults upon her until completely overpowered. After completing their terrible villainy, the fiends sought to cover up the awful crime by another scarcely less horrible. Murder followed, and this was accomplished by beating and stabbing. As incredible as it may seem, not less than sixteen stabs were inflicted on her body, mostly in the abdomen, any one of which was almost sufficient to cause instant death. Coroner Ira Allen and Dr. Arnold were called, and the coroner took charge of the body. The girl was only 14 years of age, but was very large for her age, and had the appearance of being scarcely less than eighteen. After the body had been identified as that of Miss Joyce, and the circumstance made known that her little brother Johnny was also missing, a search was immediately commenced to ascertain what become of him. The fearful anticipations that he too had shared the same fate of his murdered sister were soon a painful reality. After two or three hours' searching, his dead body was found only a few rods from the spot where his sister had been outraged and killed. He was lying upon his face, and death had been caused by several stabs inflicted with a dirk or some similar instrument, in the small of his back. Appearances indicated that the wounds were inflicted while he was running, and it is reasonable to suppose that he was being pursued or driven away by the wretches against whom he was feebly resisting to save the life of his sister. He was twelve years of age, two years her junior.

Near the scene of the diabolical crimes were found several wreaths of flowers and evergreens, wrought with great care and taste. They were apparently engaged in this innocent and childish amusement, when set upon by the brutal murderers. When they left home each had ten cents, but only three cents were found with them yesterday. They had probably spent the rest to pay their fare in the horse cars.

The bodies of both of the deceased are low in charge of Coroner Allen, who will hold an inquest at once. There is, of course, the most intense excitement in the vicinity where the brutal affair occurred. and mingled with the expressions of vengeance upon the perpetrators of the bru-tal crime, there is also much sympathy manifested for the bereaved parents, who live on Concord street in this city. such fiends as perpetrated the horrible deed, exist in this community, seems almost incredible, and it can but be the hearty desire of every good citizen that they shall be speedily arrested and pun-ished. There is, as yet, not the slightest clue to the authors of the brutal outrage, but if the adage is true that "murder will out," it would seem almost impossible that the wretches who perpetrated this double crime should escape. A reward of $500 has been offered by Alderman W. W. Clapp, of Ward Eleven, in behalf of the citizens of that ward, where the unfortunate victims resided.

DEATH-BED MARRIAGE TO SAVE AN ES-TATE .- A remarkable marriage occurred n this city last week. A lady, made a property during life, but on her death it would pass to other parties. She has been long sick with consumption, and finding her end approaching, she determined to marry, in order to secure the succession to her children. A returned soldier, a comrade husband in this singular marriage, and the lady lying on the bed from which she will responses in the presence of numerous witnesses, who will testify that she was sound of mind, and became a lawful wed-ded wife. Yesterday was set apart by the firemen Asteria, Jamaica, Flushing and College Point, for a trial of fire apparatus at Flush ing. Extensive preparations were made for a grand display, and Engine Compa-nies Nos. 1 and 7 of the Eastern District, No. 3 of the Western District, Brecklyn, and No. 41 of New York, were invited to be present. Consequently, early in the day, an immense number of firemen and horrible double tragedies which sicken the their friends assembled in the town. In consequence of some delay, the trial did not take place until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and scarcely had the machines been put in working order when a tumult arose in Main street, near Woolley's Hotel, which became so formidable in its proportions that all idea of a further trial was aban-

> It appears that an engineer from Eastern District offered a bet of forty dollars to a member of the Astoria Company, each having been discussing the merits of the Smith and Jeffers engines, when they quarrelled over the terms of the bet, the Astoria man first striking the Eastern District man. The partisans then took up the quarrel, and in a few minutes the fight became general between the Jeffers men and the Smith men.

As soon as the report of fire arms was heard, the business men of the town closed their stores, but in a few minutes afterward the wildest disorder prevailed. The report of pistols, the clashing of bowie knives, the screams and curses of the combatants, the terrified shricking of women and children, among whom fell showers of stones, rendered the scene one of intense

It is impossible to state the number of those injured, but it is estimated at fifty or sixty. "West Gulf Squadron, U. S. Flag Ship P.P. Cayler, Galveston, Texas, June 8, 1865.—Str:—In my dispatch No. 136, written at Mobile, I informed the Department that the rebel commissioners at Galeston had desired transportation to New Orleans to meet Gen. Canby with a view to arranging terms of surrender, and that I had directed such transportation to be furnished. On the evening of the 28th of May I arrived at New Orleans, where I remained until the morning of the 5th inst., and during that period had several official interviews with Colonel Ashbel Smith, commander of the forces at Galveston, who assured me there would be no opposition on the part of the forces under his command, or the people. to the occupation of Galveston by the navy. On the 5th, I left New Orleans on the steamer P. P. Cayler, and arrived off Galveston yesterday at 2 p. m. Captain Sands then informed me that on the 2d of May, General Kirby Smith and Major General Magruder came on board the United States steamer Fort Jackson, where they were met by Brigadier General E.

J. Davis, representing General E. R. S. Canby, and the terms of surrender heretofore agreed upon between representatives of Gens. Smith and Canby were signed by Gen. Kirby Smith. After the signing of the articles of surrender, Captain Sands immediately took the necessary steps to buoy out the channals, and on the 15th proceeded inside the bar, in the Cornelia followed by the Preston, and landed at Galveston, accompanied by Commander Stevens, commanding the Downs, and Lieut. Com'd Wilson, and had an interview with Major C. H. Leonard, after charged. The proceeds go to the Seldiers' derly manner. Flags are now floating on all the forts in the barbor, but, as we have not a sufficient force from the fleet to garrison the latter, I have detailed the lightdraught gunboats Cornelia, Preston and New London to remain inside the bar, where they will soon be joined by the Port Royal. I have also given orders to Commander Leary, of the Ossipee, to convey with his vessel the troops which Gen. Canby, it is hoped, will in a few days be ready to dispatch to occupy the different ports on the coast already surrendered to the United States. "General Brown, of the United States army, on the 1st instant, with a brigade, the coast of Texas is at an end.

"To-day I went on shore, and had an interview with the civil and military au tnorities, by whom I was cordially received, and, in conversation, these gentlemen expressed their anxiety for a speedy restoration of the old order of things, and reiterated their desire that a portion of our naval force should remain in the harbor for their protection. On the visit I was accompanied by Captain Sands and part of my staff.

South Carolina.

It is hinted that President Johnson intends to "reconstruct" South Carolina on quite a different basis from that of North Carolina. The latter State has never been regarded as very much in love with the Jeff. Davis Confederacy, and her borders have been full of men who secretly cherished a love for the old Union, while the mountain fastnesses sheltered large numbers of those who openly bid defiance to the conscriptors for the rebel ranks. The fact that she is willing to return to her allegiance more cheerfully than any other State, had a strong influence no doubt with the President in deferring to the wishes of her citizens upon many points, and particularly upon the question of negro suffrage.

But with her fiery little sister, South Carolina, it is entirely different. She if was who first lighted the fires of the great rebellion. She committed the first overt act of war, and on her soil the flag of the country was first hauled down in disgrace. The disease of secession has taken root so deeply and become so fixed in her constitution that she must have the most thorough and systematic treatment in order to effect a cure. A diagnosis of her case would show a wonderful love for slavery and a bitter and malignant hatred of "mudsills" who labor for a living. She needs "reconstructing" from top to bottom. If it be true, as President Johnson says, that the Constitution of the United States imposes upon him the duty of seeing that the people of each State is guaranteed a Republican form of in their sweet scented bosoms. The long government, then he ought to insist that the provisions of the old constitution of South Carolina which are anti-republican and undemocratic, should be entirely of delight as the lightnings play above changed for the better. Editors Gazette:-I am glad you are enjoying "a pen-chat" with "A-," who I hope, will continue that sort of talk and allow your ungraceful correspondent who now addresses you, to retire "to private life and enjoy the quiet derived from "minding my own business." It never was agreeable to me to make a public news office of my head, or to stand at the gate to enquire of passers by, into the domestic matters of Mr. Jones' family, or write about, though I believe it has become fashionable to write about something I have seen or heard and how somebody has been entertained at Br. "Right's" and the whole clothed in language such as fairies use among the rosies or nymphs on the crest of ocean cliffs. I suppose I may as well be out of the world as out of the fashion, so here I ge, trying to reach the popular altitude, though I think the effort will be too much for me, so I shall never be so rash as to make a second attempt. Had I the language of a Taylor when painting a sunset scene on the mountains of Lake Tomea, or adoring Aurora as she opened the gates of day, I might be able to tell you in an agreeable way, how, in the quiet and unostentatious neighborhood the center of which is the Harmony school house, gather all classes in sunday school to study the Word, sow good seed and lay up treasures in Heaven. Brother Boyd, the worthy superintendent, accepted an invitation from Milton to join in a basket pienic. Accordingly, on the morning of the 22d, when June is leveliest and days the longest,

" With wreaths of roses and many fine posics" with flags and banners appropriate, the procession was formed of about thirty wagons and two hundred children, teachers and friends. Arriving at Milton they were courteously received with open arms and warm hearts. Brother Walsh (who by the way is a citizen of our town as were many of his school,) politely gave the Harmony school the position of honor. At about 10 a.m. all were safely enjoying the scenery around Clear take, where mother Nature seems to have spent her leisure moments in preparing a beautiful and quiet retreat for such as worship at her shrine. There in the cool shade on those embowered slopes, while the bobolink and thrush caroled their morning songs and the sportive fish leaped from the limpid water to catch the nimble fly, or perhaps to take a sly peep at the sylphlike forms promenading the green banks, several hundred human couls like a garden of flowers with catch the rays of light and truth as they fell reflected from the tongue of Rev. The mothers (God bless those house angels, they always anticipate our wants,) had provided for the wants of the inner man with a lavish hand. And such a repast! The most difficult epicure could find no fault. This important feature of the occasion was discussed with a zeal and perseverance known only to excursionists. Dinner over, scores of boys from "behind the point" swam among the lillies, girls made half orbits around some outstretched arm of the sturdy oak, others rambled among their green tops, while the more thoughtful climbed the hills to take in at one view, the fall inspiration of the scene. The festivities of the day closed only when the parties retired from the returning procession. As the floating clouds, tinged with purple and gold, bade adieu to the setting sun, to greet anew the lovely starlight and again the rising king of day, so the Harmony Union Sunday School, with kindly feelings and strengthened love for the schools of Milton and Otter Creek, separated, ardently hoping to meet again.

Ir is the greatest mistake in the world to suppose that pleasure is a costly article, yet it is a mistake that the wisest of us are accustomed to regard pleasure of the highest kind as we regard diamonds-in the light of rare jewels of the first water, which are only to be obtained by a lavish outlay of money. With this idea we are all more or less envious of wealth, believing that its possession enables an individual to compass the whole round of human enjoyments. There was once a little boy who wished that he were a king, that he might be able to swing on a gate all day. That boy had a very modest idea of enjoyment, but if his wish had been granted he would soon have been as weary of swinging on a gate as Tithonus was of being immortal. It is a pity that we cannot learn this lesson in a more practical way; that we cannot have our wish occasionally, and be convinced by experience that true hap piness does not lie in being either rich or great. There are many accepted pieces of verbal wisdom inculcating contentment by pointing out the evils of riches and the cares of greatness. We subscribe to these, and, as a matter of abstract faith, believe in them; but practically they do not guide us. We sigh for riches and greatness all the same, still clinging to the notion that wealth and position can purchase enjoy-

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

Revolutionary Experiments in Loco-

[From the New York Journal of Commerce.] A flying machine of novel form is now in process of construction at Hoboken for the United States government. It was commenced during the war, and was intended for use in aerial reconnoissances of the enemy's position. The idea of the invention is an old one, but this is the first time that an attempt has been made to put it The picture drawn by M. Thiers of the into practice. The government was in most important department of the imperi duced to embark in the enterprise upon the strength of certain experiments made by the late distinguished General (and Pro-fessor) Mitchell. He had long been interested in the subject of aerial navigation, and believed that the principle of screw propulsion could be made to work in air as well as in water. His first and only point was to demonstrate the lifting power of a screw fan moving horizontally at different one rate it would merely lift itself, at another rate it would raise twice its own weight, at another three times; and so on, until the fact was ascertained by comparison that a fan with blades of twenty feet diameter, revolving at a certain rate of speed, would raise six tons, and have considerable power to spare. The machine is a cigar-shaped cance, built of copper, with iron ribs. An en-gine is placed in the centre with sufficient power to work a screw fan with 20 ft. blades. There are four fans connected with the engine—one below, one above the cance, and one at each end. The upper and lower fans are worked together to produce an assent; and the terminal fans are made to revolve together or separately in the same direction, or in opposite directions, for the purpose of propelling the craft horizontally. The weight of the whole, fully equipped and manned, is about six tons. It is claimed by those upon whose recommendation the machine is constructed, that it can be guided through the air with as much ease as a vessel through the water. This is conditional of course to some extent upon the wind. If number of miles per hour. If the power of a head wind exceeds or is less than the propelling power, the machine actually falls back or progresses in exact propor-tion to the difference between the powers. This truth should be borne in mind in con sidering all schemes for air-sailing.

An accomplished government officer is superintending the work, and hopes to have it done in a month, when the pretensions of the new flying machine will be tested.

Mr. Soloman Andrews, of Perth Amboy, N. J., whose remarkable achieve ments in acronautics have been certified to by a number of unimpeachable wit nesses, is already with a proposition, which may enlist the interest of speculative minds. The invention of which Mr. Andrews is the undisputable father, is a ci gar-shaped balloon-or rather three balloons fastened together like a trilobitefilled with hydrogen gas. A car, in which the acronaut sits, is hung below this. The will, while a rudder, with a large sufface wind for its lateral motion, like the ordinlong ramble of words and fear no further obliquely in a direction which is the resultant of two forces, one the ascending power of the gas, and the other the resistance of the atmosphere. When a sufficient height has been attained, the ballast stem a head-wind moving at the same rate of speed.

The testimony to the success of Mr. Andrew's invention is (as we have said) abundant and positive from those who saw him ascend to the clouds and curvet and pirouette through the air, with perfect free-Institute, and Major Woodruff, of the U. S. Engineers, a commission appointed by Secretary Stanton, who, after a thorough investigation of the facts, united in recommending the government to make a suitable appropriation to build a large ma-chine for army use. This was in July, 1864. The report went before the Congressional military committee, who quietly entombed it; and it was not before March of the present year that Mr. Audrews could find out the fate of the offer which he had made to the government, of the free use of his invention during the war. Mr. Andrews now looks to private enterprise to do what the government was not in a humor to undertake. He wants to raise money to build an "Aereon," and prove her by one trip and return between New York and Philadelphia. He does not ask contributors to the fund to accompany him, but will assume all the person al risks of the voyage himself-to which part of the proposition few will object. While these revolutionary experiments in locomotion are going on here, the British aeronauts are not idle. At a recent meeting of the British Polytechnic Asso-ciation, a Mr. Barbour stated that by using compressed carbonic acid gas, he had obtained one and a half horse power from an iron engine which weighed with all its auxilliary apparatus only 450 lbs. An engine of aluminum would weigh only one third as much. The reservoir was strong enough to bear 5,000 lbs. to the inch, and the gas that could be forced into it would suffice to drive the engine an hour and twenty minutes. Mr. Barbour proposes to use such an engine in propelling such an air ship by revolving spiral fans, upon the plan of the one building at Hoboken; and at once gets rid of all the difficulties resulting from a heavy steam engine or hot air engine, furnaces, etc., His scheme was looked upon not unfavorably by some of the English scientific

France on the Verge of Bankruptcy. [Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Tuesday, June 6, 1865.
One of the most remarkable fluancial orations ever spoken within the walls of a deliberative assembly, was delivered by M. Thiers, on Friday last, before the Corps Legislatif. The subject of his discourse was the budget of 1860 as presented by the government, coupled with a general view of the system of French finness and view of the system of French finance and of the financial position of the country most important department of the imperi-al administration, is neither flattering, nor reassuring. According to this experienced statesman and financier, the budget of 2,086 millions, for the year 1866, which the government declares to leave a surplus, leaves in reality a deficit of no less than 200 millions. That every preceding French budget up to the present time had left a large deficit of income as compared with expenditure, is a fact admitted on all rates of speed. The experimental fan was placed upon a pole as an axis, up and down which it could move freely. The fan was then made to revolve at various rates of M. Thiers tells us that he has spent "two speed at the pleasure of the operator. At months" in a laborious and conscientious investigation of the finances of the country; and the conclusion that he comes to, and which he announced in the most solemn manner to the Chamber, is that France is on the high road to national bankruptcy. With a warmth and earnestness quite unusual on such subjects, he assured his hearers that they were on the brink of a precipice. He conjured his colleagues to pause and put a stop to the present extravagant expenditure while it was yet time. He entreated them to pardon him for say ing what was so painful and disagreeable to hear, while he exposed with unfinch-ing firmness all the shifts, subterfuges and expedients had recourse to by the govern ment to conceal the real state of affairs. and demolished with an unsparing hand their pretended surplus. This speech wil be read with anxious attention by the country;; and it seems to produce, by its extreme earnestness, a deep impression even upon the hostile majority to whom it was addressed. The blame of the state of things, which he described with a force and perspicuity peculiar to himself, was laid by M. Thiers chiefly on two causes: First, the extravagant outlay on public works; but above all on the Mexican expedition. Again and again, in the course of his speech, he returns to that disastrous and exhausting enterprise, as the main source of all their financial difficulties; and it is worthy of remark, in testimony of the feeling of the country, not even the government rotors who replied to him, ventured to say one word in favor of the undertaking. All either openly or tacitly avowed themselves hostile to the imperial policy in America. It is curious that among the items used by the government to make up their sham bal ance of accounts for 1866, is one of twenty-seven millions to be repaid to Mexico. Mr. Thiers seemed to take peculiar pleasure in demolishing this, which he did most effectually. He showed that out of their last loan of 250,000,000, Mexico had in reality touched only 100,000,000. Of this sum France had already once received 27, 000,000 in 1865; and was it possible to imagine that out of the pittance which remained and which was necessary to the very existence of Maximillian's government and army—was it possible she could pay 27,000,000 more in 1866? The whole gist and bearing, then, of the above most powerful and remarkable speech may be summed up in the two folowing conclusions, viz.: that the French national finances are in a most unsound and fictitious position, and that this position is mainly due to the reckless policy pursued by the government on the American continent.

THE DOLLAR .- The word dollar is derived from a German word which means valley, and was first applied to coins in consequence of this circumstance: in the mining region of Bohemia, at a place called Joachimsthal (Joachim's Valley,) silver pieces, of one ounce weight, were coin is shifted again, and the elevated end of the balloon is depressed. At the same as Jeachimsthaler, and then for shortness By moderate and ly, still following the general line of di-german money of account, and the Span-rection in the ascent. On nearing the earth, a quantity of ballast is thrown out | world of commerce, and so familiar to from the acronaut's car, the ballast of the our fathers in their dealings with the West balloon again shifted, and up she goes; and so on until gas and car ballast are both expended. The general law expressed above with regard to wind applies to this above with regard to wind applies to this Latin decem, ten; cent, a contraction of Latin decem, ten; cent, a contraction of balloon again shifted, and up she goes; and Indies and the Spanish American colonies. as to all other flying machines. If by its oblique ascension or decension in still air it makes a given speed per hour, it will contraction of the Latin mille, thousand; so that our denominations are philosophi cal as well as convenient, each one in order being, and being designated, a tenth part of the one above.

CLOTHES WRINGER

The only Wringer lause that is fastened to a tub by the Patent CERVED CLAMP,

Which has an equal hearing on the tub the whole length of the Wringer, while all other Wringers are merely fastened to a SINGLE STAVE at scack end. The Curved Clamp not only affords the most secure fastening of any in use, but it does not strain the tub like all other methods of fastenings. A child eight years old can securely fasten the Wringer to any size TUB, POUNDING BARREL OR BOX.

The Rollers are fastened to the shaft under HALEY'S PATENT, which is acknowledged to be the Most Effectual Fastening in use.

The shaft being covered with cament and closely wound with strong twine, prevents the nubber from coming in contact with the shaft. If the rubber is allowed to come in contact with the shaft, the sulphur in the rubber acting on the iron soon causes the rubber to become loose, which renders the Wringer useless. This is chirrly overcome by using Haley's manner of fastening, which not only prevents the Rollers from becoming toose on the shaft, but renders the use of Coy Wheel's (used on some Wringers) entirely unnocessary. Wringers with cog wheels turn Adrag Dail Hardes than those without a fact which every one in want of a Wringer should prove by trial before purchasing one with cog wheels.

The Rollers need no adjusting to wring ordinary clothing, but to wring very heavy articles, they can be adjusted as desired, which saves much hard labor, and straining of the Wringer.

clothing, but to wring very heavy articles, they can be adjusted as desired, which saves much hard labor, and straining of the Wringer.

The Rotters turn in boxes of hard maple wood, which are boiled in tallow, consequently need no oiling; while Rotters that turn on Iron soon rust, which cause them to turn very hard unless frequently oiled. Oil has a very bad effect on the rubber.

There is no iron about the Wringer that can come in contact with articles being wrong. Resides saving much hard labor, the Wringer will soon pay for itself in the saving of clothing.

Having heen so successful in selling these Wringers, as to never have one successful in selling these Wringers, and desire any one purchasing a "Champlon Wringer," to test it with others, and if found suggention to all others, keep it—if tyrgeren to any, return it, and the money will be refunded if returned within one month.

TASHEESH CANDY. The Great Oriental

NERVINE COMPOUND.

A most delightful EXHLIERANT CONFECTION-IZED, and has been the theme of song and story among the Persians, Anabians and Assyrians. True Secret of Youth and Beauty.

It is a remedy that ought to b. in every House on account of its harmlessness and polency; and above all, because of its excreding cheapness. It is the cheapost remedy in the world. Colls readily yield to it.

The writer, the speaker, the student and the business man, under its influence, seem to gather a new inspiration and new energy, a readiness and keenness of perception unknown before. No Clergyman, Actor, Singer, Lawyer, or in fact may one should be without it Gen. Would suys. It is of great value for the would eil and feeble, and that it is harmless."

Maj. Gen. Michell, the velbrated Astornomer says the Hasheesh Candy helped him when all other remedies railed to rolleve him, and that it is an elegant compound. The velbrated Dr. Molt of New Fork, says I tank, true medicinal virtues of the Hasheesh Candy strovery great; much greater than yet appears. I could wish that a remedy so potent for good as it is were more generally in use.

RALLY THE SYSTEM.

After a disease has been conquered, there is still the weakness that it leaves behind it to be removed. Can valescence is a telious affair. If the enfechied and flaccid mucles, the shattered nerves, the thin and watery blood could speak, they would cry aloud for help. In too many cases such help as is given them is not of the right kind. The fiery stimulants of commerce do harm. They kindle a temporary flame which is mockery. Their effect passes, and the last state of him who uses them is worse than the first. Not such is the effect of HOSPETPER'S STOMACH BITTERS. There is no drawback to their toning pro perties. Balsamic plants and barks and roots contrib ute their restorative juices to render this soothing an strengthening preparation a projective and REMEDIAL agent. Its basis is the only pure stimulant which has ever been produced containing no fusel oil or any other deleterious element. The most careful and skillful chemists have analyzed the Bitters, and pronounce

SIMPLE, PRACTICAL, THOROUGH,

A Small Investment That will bring Ample Return.

IT WILL WASH FROM ONE TO TWENTY PIECES AT ONCE!

Our machines are as perfect as ever any machine will be. They will wash in the most perfect manner all fabrics from a collar to a blanket, with the greatest ease. They will not only save three fourths of the fabor and sone, but garments will last twice as long when washed in them.

A Bank-bill can be placed in the machine with a dozen dirty collars, and the collars washed clean, without doing the least injury to the bill. It is the simplest as well as the cheapest machine now in use. The washing is entirely under the control of the eperator, so that dirty parts of agarment can be washed without unnecessarily rubbing the clean parts. This machine can only be appreciated by secing it in operation. Now on exhibition and sale by

READ WHO SAYS SO: From the Hon. Thomas B. Florence. From the Hon. Thomas B. Florence. From the Hon. Thomas B. Florence. Washington, Jan. 1st, 1861.

Washington, Jan. 1st, 1804.

Gentlement:—Having stated it verbally to you, I have no healtation in writing the fact, that I experienced marked benefit from your Hoofmal's German Bitters. During a long and tedious session of Congress, pressing and onerous duties nearly prostrated me. A kind friend suggested the age of the preparation I have named. I took his advice, and the result was improvement of health, renewed energy, and that particular relief I so much needed and obtained. Others may be similarly advantaged if they desire to be.

Truly your friend, THOMAS E. FLORENGE.

From John B. Withersham, Esq., firm of Withersham and Hutchinson, the celebrated manafacturers of Faucy Iron Works, 250 Canal street:
I am the recipient from you of one of the greatest favors that can be conferred upon man, viz., that of health. For many years have I suffered from one of the most anneying and debilitating complaints that the kuman family can be afflicted with, Chronic Diarrheas.

Diarrhea.

During the long time I was suffering from this disease, I was attended by regular physicians, giving me but temporary relief. The cause seemed to remain until I was induced to try Hoofitand's derman litters.

After the use of a few bottles of that valuable medicine, the complaint appeared to be completely eradicated. ated.
I often inwardly thank you for such a valuable speciffe, and, when I have an opportunity, cheerfully remmend it, with full confidence in its reliability.

Truly yours. JOHN B. WITHERSHAM.

New York, Feb. 2, 1864.

From Julius Lee, Esq., firm of Lea & Walker, the most extensive Music Publishers in the United States, No. 722 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. February 8th 1864.

Mestrs. Jones d Evans—Gentlemen: My mother-in-law has been so greatly benefitted by your Hoothards German Bitters that I concluded to try it myself. I find it to be an invaluable tonic, and unhesitatingly recommend it to all who are suffering from dyspepsia I have had that disease in its most obstinate form— datulence—for many years, and your Betters has given me ease when everything else had failed.

Yours truly, JULIES LEE

From the Hon. Jacob Broom. PERLABZIPHIA, Oct. 7th, 1863.

In reply to your inquiry as to the efby the use of Hoofland's German Bitter fort particul tytes use of Hoofand's German litters in my family. I have in hositation in saying that it has been highly beneficiat. In one instance, a case of dyspepsia of thirteen years' standing, and which had become very distressing, the use of one bottle gave decided relief, the second effecting a cure, and the third, it seems, has confirmed the cure, for there has been no symptoms of its return for the last six years. In my individual use of it, I find it to be an inequalited tonic and sincerely recommend its use to the suiterers.

Truly yours, JACOB BROOM, 1707 Spruce.

Truly yours, JACOB BROOM, 1707 Spruce.

From Rev. W. D. Seigfried, Pastor of the 12th Baptist Church:

PHILABRIPHA, December 26th, 1563,

Maistr. Jones & Evans—Gentlemen: I have recently been laboring under the distressing effects of indigestion, accompanied by a prostration of the nervous system. Numerous remedies overe recommended by Friends, and some of them tested but without relief. Your Hoodhand's German Bitters were recommended by persons who had tried them, and whose faverable mention of the Bitters induced mends to try them. I must confess that I had an aversion to Patent Medicines, from the "thousand and one" quark "Bitters," whose only aim seems to be to pain off sweethered and drugged liquor upon the community, in a sly way, and the tendency of which, I fear, is to make many a confirmed drunkard. Upon learning that yours was really a medicinal preparation, I took it with happy effect. Its action not only upon the stomach, but upon the nervous system, was prompt and gratifying. I feel that I have derived great and permanent benefit from the use of a few bottles.

Very respectfully yours, W. D. SEHIRIED,
NO. 251 Shackamaxon Street.

From the Rev. Thans. Winter, D. D., Taster of Roxbury Budist Church:

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I feel it due to your excellent preparation, Hoofland's German Bitters, to add my testimony to the deserved reputation it has obtained. I have for years, at times, been troubled with great disorder in my head and neevons system. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your German Bitters. I did so, and have experienced great and unexpected relief; my health has been very materially benefitted. I confidently reconstructed the atticle where I meet with cases similar to my ovu, and have been assured by many of their good effects.

Respectfully yours,

R. WINTER,

Revbourough, Pa.

From Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Refrom MeV-S. S. Terminis, of the Grinan Reformed Charch, Kutztown, Berks county, Pen. Irun-ber. C. Jackson—Repeded Nic: I have been Irun-bled with Dyspepsia nearly twenty years, and have never used any medicine that did me as much good as Hoothand's German Bitters. I am very much improved in health, after having taken five bottles.

Yours, with respect, J. S. HERMAN.
